

Judge McCoy attended Elmira College and received her Bachelor of Science Degree in 1989. She graduated from Franklin Pierce Law School in 1993. Upon her graduation from law school, Judge McCoy returned home to Lycoming County to practice law. She began her practice as an associate at McNerney, Page, Vanderlin & Hall and became a partner in 1998. During her time in private practice, Judge McCoy focused primarily on family law matters. In November, 2009, Judge McCoy was elected to a ten-year term in the Court of Common Pleas of Lycoming County. She currently presides over cases involving custody, support, divorce, domestic violence and Children & Youth matters. In 2002, Judge McCoy received the Lycoming Law Association's Equal Access to Justice Award.
