Media Release

Between now and the November election, Lycoming County residents should be extremely cautious of election-related phone calls, texts, and emails that may actually be fraud or phishing attempts.

- 1) Do not provide personal identifying information or financial information over phone, text, or email in response to an election-related communication from an unknown or unfamiliar source.
- 2) Do not click on suspicious links embedded in an election-related communication from an unknown or unfamiliar source.
- 3) It is not possible to register to vote, apply for a mail ballot, or cast a vote by phone, text, or email in Pennsylvania.

County residents should also exercise caution if a person going door-to-door claims to be from Voter Services, or if they refuse to identify themselves or disclose with what candidate, party, or organization they are affiliated – particularly if they attempt to obtain personal identifying information or financial information. Voter Services employees do not conduct door-to-door solicitation of any kind.
